Notes

As a small version of widespread jar and bowl forms, this too is found all over the area of grog-tempered pottery, and has a date range from the last quarter of the 1st century BC (Braughing) to the post-conquest period, when romanised and Roman examples appear.

Note also:

the number of romanised and Roman vessels in SE Essex; most of the Essex examples are late (Braintree may be mid-1st century AD);

the frequency of HM examples in Kent, as well as the use of local gritty fabrics;

late, red-surfaced examples in the Beds.-Bucks, area.
